

Mr. Michael Dwyer and Mr. Pierre Lorillard Led the Lucky Bettors—Pittsburgh

THE AMERICAN TURN IN AND SHOULD BE. If the proper measures be taken the American turf should take a place that would cause the eyes of the whole racing world to be directed to this hemisphere. We are now admittedly the greatest sporting nation on the globe. Within fifty miles of the metropolis we can be found racing properties worth an aggregate of $100,000,000. Two of them at least are first class. Men who have made their money in the course of time on both continents say that Morris and Monmouth parks are unapproached in magnificence of construction and perfection of equipment. The latter is the crisis of the American turf and the artistic directorship of the deasars. Morris is the lead, as Mr. Withers had no opportunity to carry out his many plans for the

the year, the Oriental Handicap, one of the richest events for old horses outside of the Brooklyn and Coney Island races, again was won by a horse who had bet down to amount to anything. This was to much the credit of the Colonel, and he sold the mare for a handsome price.

John Hunter found the path to success a hard one after an absence of a great many years. He had been a winner of the first winning streak, and his season was not so bad as it might have been.

THEY WERE THE LUCKY MARKERS.

Bookmaker, Wheelock, Botay, O. A. Jones, Bullard, and McDonald beat the game on the outside, and the handicappers, of whom Irish and Timony were the best, were not doing so well. Having a very fair year, Drew Johnson could not wait long enough to get rich and foundered.

[illegible]

Monarch was entered, but at more than twice his former figure, and, again, the knowledge of the fact that the field would be down in the price and let him go. That was the last time the little colt manifested any interest in racing. He was sold and did win in all kinds of company, carrying great weight in many instances, and was regarded as a very capable and a very reliable companion. His Highness, who was considered to be champion by opinion consent, was sold to a party in the city of New York and sent to the Flatbush track at seven furlongs, Curt Gun St. Florian, Huron, and a small colt, being the only horses in the race. The little more than a year colt was such a good race horse that he was sold to a party in the city of New York and sent to the Flatbush track at seven furlongs, Curt Gun St. Florian, Huron, and a small colt, being the only horses in the race. The little more than a year colt was such a good race horse that he was sold to a party in the city of New York and sent to the Flatbush track at seven furlongs, Curt Gun St. Florian, Huron, and a small colt, being the only horses in the race.

[illegible]

...in Lakeland, than when there is no power of more gorgeous hand of race than his. He is a horse of the highest quality, his chief winner being Victory, a colt who defeated His Highness at even weights at the first trial of his speed. He is the property of Davy Johnson, the well-known maker, and Lakeland thinks he is the best young youngster that sawed last season. Lakeland's own horse, the speedy but unsteady and unkindly running Prince of Wales, was a favorite after running third for the "Skiy" Handicap, after being out of the race for a long time. He has become somewhat terrible, and his performance for the remainder of the year was not up to the level of his previous season's work, when he was just as good as any colt in training. He is the property of John Cavanagh, won several pounds of ground.

owned by F. T. Puffer, New York	24,900
owned by J. H. B. Smith, New York	26,800
J. C. McLewee, New York	24,415 owned by W. S. Wood, owned by F.
wyler & Son, Brooklyn	24,025
Monsieur, R. E., 2, by Hongo-Bramba-re, owned by Gustafson, New York	20,400
et, h. c. 2, by Giondusa-Sophonia, owned by J. L. Leary, New York	22,598
net, h. k. c. 2, by Tremont-Fair Lady, ed by John Hunter, New York	20,800
owned by M. P. Dwyer	20,465 owned by H. Bendall, Fair Lady, owned byron McDaniel, Lexington, h.	20,000
owned by J. H. B. Smith, New York—impowns, owned by Hancock Stud	17,720 et, h. g. 4, by Imp Rayon d'Or-Ella T.
owned by J. H. B. Smith, New York	18,230
g. b. g. ed. by imp, Ballet-Camel,
owned by J. H. B. Smith, New York	17,785
et, b. s. c. k. by Pizarro-Hister Monica, and W. A. Wood, New York	29,735
cker, b. e. s. by J. H. B. Smith, New York

[illegible]